

CONDUIT

The Newsletter for License Coordinators of TeachingBooks.net

January 2009 Vol. 5, No. 1

*This monthly newsletter provides the inside scoop on how you can maximize the use of TeachingBooks.
Please forward pertinent information to your colleagues.*

New Year. New Look. New Support Center.

With the new year, we're unveiling the Conduit's new look. This monthly e-newsletter now includes a Support Center to take you directly to webpages that will help you get the most out of your TeachingBooks license.

For example, from the Support Center you can:

- Attend this month's What's New webinar on Wednesday, January 21, 2009 (3 PM Eastern / 2 PM Central). Nick Glass, the Founder of TeachingBooks, will be highlighting multiple Web 2.0 opportunities.

<http://teachingbooks.net/WhatsNewWebinar>

- Learn a Helpful Hint about using TeachingBooks.net. Each of these eight Helpful Hints introduces one useful aspect of the site to support new users and serves as a handy reminder for returning users.

<http://www.teachingbooks.net/HelpfulHints>

You and Your Colleagues Can Join TeachingBooks' New Tip Team!

Have you ever submitted a comment on a website? Perhaps you've written a book review for Amazon? Maybe you like to see how people rate and review a restaurant before you dine there?

TeachingBooks.net is introducing this type of interactivity. Now everyone can rate each resource on TeachingBooks and share their thoughts and experiences about using these materials for other educators around the world. We call this new component Teacher Tips!

Sound like fun? If you would like to publish your experiences (or "tips"), we invite you to be one of the early users and testers of Teacher Tips. You will have access to the "beta" Teacher Tips version of TeachingBooks.net which is not yet visible to the general public.

Join the Tip Team today and start submitting your insights! Just go to:

<http://www.teachingbooks.net/TipTeamSignup>

Feel free to forward this information to colleagues whom you think would enjoy being part of this exciting new TeachingBooks Web 2.0 initiative.

Thanks! Let us know how we can help you use and enjoy TeachingBooks! 800-596-0710

