

CONDUIT
The Newsletter for License Coordinators of TeachingBooks.net

May 2008

Vol. 4, No. 5

*This monthly newsletter provides the inside scoop on how you can maximize the use of TeachingBooks.
Please forward pertinent information to your colleagues.*

Please send us your reading lists!

With the new TeachingBooks.net website, we are able to offer single-click access for everyone in your district to instantly have all the online multimedia resources that support any of your district reading lists! (This includes all library, summer reading, ELA, ELL, multicultural... whatever reading lists your district uses.)

For some time, we've offered links to author programs, book guides, audio excerpts of books being read, and more, supporting some state and national reading and award lists (our "QuickSearch" feature). Now we can correlate online resources directly with your district reading lists.

To send us your lists, please follow the directions on the link below — which includes a downloadable Excel template file for you to fill out and send back to us.

<http://teachingbooks.net/readinglists>

Please forward this opportunity to your district coordinators of language arts, reading, and library so that all district-wide reading lists can be supported with these multimedia materials. The more we can help your teachers and students enjoy and easily integrate multimedia author and book materials, the better.

Please contact John H. Moore, the TeachingBooks.net Operations Manager, with any questions.

phone: 800-596-0710

email: john@TeachingBooks.net

