WCAG Edition

(Based on VPAT® Version 2.4)

Name of Product/Version: TeachingBooks and Book Connections

Report Date: December 27, 2021

Product Description: TeachingBooks and Book Connections are a multidisciplinary database of 270,000+ full-text digital resources that are professionally curated to enrich the reading of children’s and young adult books (fiction and nonfiction). They offer primary-source reference materials, supplemental instructional support, reader’s advisory and collection analysis tools, study aids, and professional development opportunities that personalize and enhance connections to books and authors for all readers. Please note that TeachingBooks and Book Connections are identical because both services are run by the same people and use the exact same programming and infrastructure. TeachingBooks.net LLC is the parent organization. For all policies, please treat TeachingBooks and Book Connections as interchangeable.

Commitment to Producing an Accessible Product: TeachingBooks is committed to full compliance with the ADA and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. We require our web content to be accessible for all. We keep our VPAT updated to reflect our vigilant efforts to meet WCAG 2.1 AA compliance. Our website is designed to work with industry-standard adaptive technologies, including responsive design, mouse-free navigation, support for users with low vision, and users with disabilities on mobile devices. We annually undergo professional development in this area. We define clear accessibility goals and responsibilities. We regularly conduct usability tests and formal accessibility reviews based on the latest legal standards and best practices.

Table 1: Success Criteria, Level A

Notes:

Criteria	Conformance Level	Remarks and Explanations
1.1.1 Non-text Content (Level A)	Supports
1.2.1 Audio-only and Video-only (Prerecorded) (Level A)	Supports	Transcripts are available for original English-language, Spanish-language, and French-language TeachingBooks audio and video materials and audio book readings. Audio interviews generally do not have transcripts. Videos from third party sources are programmed to include pre-recorded closed captions if provided by the content authors.
1.2.2 Captions (Prerecorded) (Level A)	Supports	Original English-language, Spanish-language, and French-language TeachingBooks audio and video materials, as well as almost all audio book readings, include transcripts that are time-coded and highlight as read aloud. Users can interact by jumping to any spot in the video or audio component, and follow text and audio in sync. In general, audio interviews do not have this function and videos from third party sources may or may not include captions provided by the content authors.
1.2.3 Audio Description or Media Alternative (Prerecorded) (Level A)	Supports	Audio book excerpts that have been transcribed and contain sounds that require description include description in the text. Please note that because TeachingBook.net videos are edited for brevity, there are very few pauses in which it would be possible to include a meaningful audio description of the setting. Illustrator videos inevitably involve the illustrator describing their process, which is what the visual content of the videos depict. Adding audio description to such a resource would risk either redundancy to what the illustrator is saying, or a view of the work that is not the illustrator's, the latter of which is contrary to the TeachingBooks.net philosophy of allowing book creators to speak for themselves. TeachingBooks' audio is often authors and illustrators describing their work, and sounds or images other than the spoken word rarely exist. Also note that TeachingBooks embeds videos from a wide variety of sources and
