MY NAME IS Layla

By Reyna Marder Gentin

“Liza is always telling me that I’m smart, but she doesn’t get what it’s like in my head.”

ON THE FIRST DAY of eighth grade, thirteen year-old Layla has a pretty good idea of what’s in store for her—another year of awkward social situations, mediocre grades, and teachers who praise her good behavior but find her academic performance disappointing. Layla feels certain she’s capable of more, but each time she tries to read or write, the words on the page dance and spin, changing partners and leaving her to sit on the sidelines.

This year will be different in ways Layla could never have predicted. Her new English teacher, Mr. McCarthy, senses her potential. When he pushes her to succeed, Layla almost rises to the challenge before making a desperate choice that nearly costs her everything she’s gained. Will she be able to get back on track? And who can she count on to help her?

“Layla’s struggles at school and home are authentically depicted, and readers who face their own challenges will relate.” —School Library Journal

“Layla’s struggles will strike a chord with young readers who face their own challenges, and every reader will root for Layla, a girl who only needs a little help to recognize how special she really is.” —Diana Harmon Asher, author of Sidetracked

ACTIVITIES

PERSONAL NARRATIVE

Mr. McCarthy has his eighth-grade English students read and discuss S.E. Hinton’s novel The Outsiders. He gives his students an assignment to write about a time they felt like an outsider. Invite your students to write a personal narrative about a time when they experienced being an outsider. Important points to consider: Where were you at the time? Who was involved in this experience? What was your emotional reaction to feeling like an outsider? CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.W.5.3; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.W.6.3; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.W.7.3; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.W.8.3

POETRY READING

Mr. McCarthy chose Robert Frost’s poem “The Road Not Taken” especially for Layla. Have your students hunt for a poem that really speaks to who they are. Invite students to share their self-selected poems in a poetry reading. Save time at the end for students to explain the significance of the poems they’ve chosen for themselves.

UNDERSTANDING DYSLEXIA

Layla’s reading difficulties negatively affect her academic performance, which in turn makes her feel that she is not very smart. Mr. McCarthy notices her struggles and refers her to the school’s Learning Center where Layla is identified as being dyslexic. Working in pairs, have your students research dyslexia to learn more about this learning difference. Have pairs compile their research into an information report. CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.W.5.2; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.W.6.2; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.W.7.2; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.W.8.2

MY NAME IS . . .

Layla’s name was chosen by her father and it came from a favorite song. Invite students to learn the story behind their names. Have each create a “My Name Is . . .” mini poster that gives a definition of their name and a brief family story about how it was selected. Display these in the classroom.

MYSTERY BAGS

Place several key items in opaque grocery bags. The items should represent something from the story such as a basketball, a copy of The Outsiders, hospital scrubs, a bouquet of flowers, etc. Give three clues about the item that ties it to events in the story. Students then take turns guessing what the item is. Once the students guess correctly, discuss the item’s significance and its connection to the novel. Then move on to the next mystery bag. CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.RL.5.1; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.RL.6.1; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.RL.7.1; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.RL.8.1

TWO TRUTHS AND A LIE

Present two things that are true and one thing that is a lie about several characters from the book. The truths and lies can be presented orally or via a set of Google slides. Students then guess which of the three statements are true and which one is a lie. Discuss the characters in light of these truths about them. CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.RL.5.1; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.RL.6.1; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.RL.7.1; CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.RL.8.1
